

Elmer L. Williams, law enforcement officer of the Better Government Association.

COUNCIL SEEKS REMEDY

While the conference at the Chicago club was in progress the city council was having a serious discussion of the crime wave and adopting remedial resolutions. Some aldermen blamed prohibition for Chicago's crime; others said the unemployment of 104,000 persons is responsible.

Another alderman said the main reason was the lack of policemen. Still another said there was a general lack of law and order, due to many reasons and evils, and suggested a junket to Milwaukee, Wis., to find out how to improve conditions.

The city council had no knowledge of the law enforcement program then being outlined in the Chicago club when the crime-discussion began. Ald. Donald S. McKinley (19th) started it with a resolution asking that policemen be given a bounty of $1 for every revolver taken from any person unlawfully carrying one.

Ald. McKinley asked in addition to the bounty that his colleagues concur in an order that confiscated revolvers be melted up and made into a statue to Law and Order, to be erected in front of the headquarters of the precinct having the highest record of guns turned in.

Ald. John Coughlin (3rd) said all the crime was due to the eighth amendment; Ald. Wiley W. Mills (37th) replied that Ald. Coughlin's memory was bad. He said he has been in Chicago thirty years and every winter saw its crime wave.

Ald. Thomas J. Bowler said prohibition and unemployment might be contributing factors, but he said the answer was found in the case of the police force.

"There are thirty-two schools and 34,000 school children in my district and we have about four policemen traveling beat," he said.

"If the city is not in a position to hire 1,000 more policemen, we should appeal to wealthy persons or have a tax day or anything else that would raise sufficient money to give the people sufficient police protection."

ASSAIL PRESS, DEVER

In speeches delivered elsewhere in the city while the conference was in progress, Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Union Trust company, attributed a share of the blame to the newspapers for the prevalence of crime and the Rev. Charles A. Gage, pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist Episcopal church, said, based in his opinion the responsibility for the crime situation should be laid at Mayor Dever's door.

Mr. Wheeler spoke at the weekly luncheon of the Association of Commerce at the Hotel Sherman.

"The newspaper is the textbook of the coming generation of citizens," Mr. Wheeler declared.

Blames Press, Public, Too.

"What right have we to all our textbooks with this? Chicago newspapers evidently have come to believe that the public would rather read the nauseating stories of crime they print than the fine and progressive things we are doing every day. The press is a commercial institution, and as such must give the public what it wants."

"To change the daily tenor of our news it is necessary that the public show the press that what it wants is decency and not indecency."

CRIMES OF THE DAY

Among the crimes and arrests of yesterday were:

Policeman Fred Goodson was wounded in the hand by two young men who attempted to rob an A. & P. store at 1945 Indiana avenue. They used J. B. Fleming, manager of the store, as a shield while they exchanged shots with the policeman, and he shot one of them in the hand. Later Sgt. Eugene Barry of the detective bureau captured two men, one wounded, and Goodson identified them. They gave their names and addresses as George Atkinson, 19 years old, 4638 Wallace street, and Emil Adkinson, 18 years old, of the same address.

Daniel Clemence, 21, of 909 South street and Frank Contabile, 25, 2055 De Kalb street were arrested on a charge of rape preferred by Miss Blanche Jonickich, 21, of 1143 South Kedzie avenue. She charged they forced her into an automobile, drove her to the far south side, and there attached her.

John Adams, 25, of 1120 North Clark street was arrested on a warrant charging the rape of Mary Kocan, 18, of 1029 West Chicago avenue.

John Haggerty, 24, and Wilbert Wala, 23, traveling musicians, were arrested on a charge of robbing two Milwaukee girls, Gertrude Zahner and Virginia Rye.

Five Steal an Auto.

Five men, overpowered Walter Malloy, 1730 South Winchester avenue, and stole the Pierce-Arrow automobile which he was driving and which was owned by J. F. Smith, 7012 South Shore drive.

Three young men robbed the store of Edwin Schmidt at 1143 South State street and a customer, H. J. Goodstein, obtaining $100 and $150 in checks.

Two men robbed the clothing store of David Rosenberg, 1835 West 47th street, getting $50.

COOLIDGE TOLD CATTLE RAISERS NEED ATTENTION

May Lead Agricultural Relief Legislation.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—(Special.)—Cattle raising is the only branch of agriculture in need of immediate emergency relief, the President's agricultural commission has found, and Mr. Coolidge, to whom the commission made its preliminary report today, has undertaken to procure that relief from this congress before it ends March 4.

In the light of the commission's report the President hopes that all the legislation agriculture now needs can be passed by this congress and that an extra session of the new congress is not required for this purpose, Senator Borah to the contrary notwithstanding.

The commission's suggestions for emergency legislation consist of only one proposal. It is that congress amend the agricultural credit act to permit the discounting by negotiable credit banks of loans negotiated by federally chartered agricultural credit agencies.

Recommendations for administrative action by government agencies embrace the following:

Inauguration by the Federal Farm Loan board of a campaign for the organization of discount agencies as a means of obtaining loans from intermediate credit banks to assist live stock raisers.

A review of the personnel of the intermediate credit banks to make it certain the employees include persons conversant and sympathetic with the needs of agriculture, including live stock.

A special report by the chairman of the Federal Farm Loan board by July 1, 1925, indicating progress as has been made in meeting the emergency in the live stock industry.

An early and thorough revision of freight rates to relieve the raw products of agriculture and live stock from a disproportionate share of transportation costs.

Source of Present Handicap.

The report states that the cattle industry suffers through the lack of tariff protection from competition from foreign countries produced by cheaper labor and under different standards of production. There also is a need for protection in the case of other agricultural products. It is declared.

The commission, however, found it advisable to defer the presentation of any tariff recommendations until the entire question of protection for agriculture is studied.

The commission also recommended a uniform policy of grazing on public lands and in the national forests. Regulation of grazing in the national forests has improved the quality of the range and the production of cattle, it is stated.

For Leasing Grazing Lands.

Instead of continuing unrestricted grazing on the public domain it is proposed that the unsupervised public domain be placed under lease.

To determine the administration, rules, regulations, and fees governing grazing, the commission suggests appointment of a committee of one representative of the department of agriculture, one of the interior department, and three others, two of whom shall represent the live stock grazing industry, appointed by the secretaries of agriculture and interior, acting jointly. Until a uniform plan of leasing is agreed upon it is recommended that there shall be no increase in fees charged for grazing in the national forests.

Industry Outlook Favorable.

The commission declared that confidence in the future of the live stock industry is warranted.

"In recent months there has been a heavy forced liquidation of the cattle industry, caused in part by shortage of feed, but principally by the calling of loans by private financing agencies," says the report. "During the war and immediately after many were encouraged to engage in the industry and excessive loans were made on cattle at excessive valuation. The government, in making advances to the live stock industry through the War Finance corporation, has materialized in absorbing the shock of deflation.

"Evidence indicates that the breeding stock now on farms and ranges has been reduced to the point where future production will not be greatly in excess of normal demand. Therefore confidence in the industry is warranted and adjustments which will assist in putting it on a sound basis should be made as speedily as possible. These adjustments should deal with finance, transportation costs, tariff, and grazing."

NURSE CHARGES DURANT ASSAULT ON YACHT; SUES

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 14.—(Special.)—Sue to recover $100,000 damages for an alleged assault in the state room of the yacht Aurora, belonging to H. C. Durant, while the ship rode at anchor in Honolulu, last October, was filed today in the Superior court by Miss Martha Fuller, trained nurse, against Durant and Miss Les Gapski, a dancer from Detroit.

The attack occurred, according to Miss Fuller's complaint, while she was nursing the dancer, who was ill aboard the yacht. Durant is in Los Angeles, according to his father, T. C. Durant, who was interviewed at the Palace hotel tonight. The elder Durant said he could give no information on the suit and that he had never heard of either Miss Fuller or Miss Gapski.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Another shot in the political feud between former Gov. Bryan and former Republican state officials fired by one of the latter, failed to stir the legislature today.

Both the house and senate accepted as a petition, but took no action on a measure from George E. Johnson, former state engineer, challenging the trust of Mr. Bryan's charges of irregularities in the roads department more than two years ago, and in turn accusing the former executive of improprieties before and during his tenure of office.

LAND MARINES IN SHANGHAI TO PRESERVE ORDER

Seadogs of Four Great Nations on Duty.

BY JOHN POWELL.

(Chinese Foreign Press News Service.)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14.—American, British, Japanese, and French marines were landed here tonight to cope with the serious situation resulting from the entrance of approximately 10,000 Chinese soldiers into the foreign settlements. These soldiers constitute a major portion of the defeated armies in the recent fighting, and for the last few days they have been streaming into the foreign settlements for protection, leaving their arms at the borders of the settlement in charge of foreign volunteers and marines.

Among the arms handed over were several truck loads of rifles, millions of rounds of ammunition, thousands of revolvers, and several heavy field pieces and machine guns.

Form New Alliance.

The settlement authorities herded the troops into internment camps, which were hastily prepared, but the rainy weather and feeding difficulties constitute serious problems. Unrest among the soldiers prompted the landing of the marines tonight. It is feared the local officials might not be able to maintain control.

The new regime at Shanghai, composed of Marshals Chi Hsieh-yuan of Kiangsu and Sun Chuan-fang of Chekiang, tonight issued a statement that the Underwood bill besides having once approved the Jones bill and once the Norris bill.

Senator Norris did not again bring forward his bill, explaining to the senate that he was convinced a combination of Coolidge Republicans and Underwood Democrats had agreed upon passing either the Underwood bill or the Jones bill.

KELLOGG BOOSTS DAWES PLAN AS ALLIES SIGN UP

Sees Era of Prosperity
for Europe.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Jan. 14.—Predicting a
"new era for Europe which will have a major action on all the nations of the world" and assuring Europe that the people of the United States are deeply interested in the success of the Dawes plan, Ambassador Frank B.
Kellogg, who shortly will take Charles E. Hughes' place as the American
secretary of state, congratulated the alliance of statesmen participating in the Paris financial conference which approved the plan for the division of the German funds today.

Three outstanding events in the history of Europe in the last century are the Dawes report, the London conference and the Paris conference," Mr. Kellogg said.

"Work of Able Financier."
The Dawes report was successful
because it was the work of very able financiers and men of great public experience who labored to evolve a plan
which would settle the much vexed
question upon business
principles, bearing in mind the rights
of the various interested governments.

"The London conference was a success because the statesmen gathered
there were all animated by a patriotic determination to make it a success. I am happy to say the Paris conference
has been successful for the same reason."

With the signing of the financial accords by the great powers the United States won an important point just before the close when the clause limiting America to $250,000,000 for war damage claims was eliminated. America will now get 24 per cent of the reparations payable under the Dawes plan.
All its demands are met. This action was taken on a motion submitted by Col. James A. Logan, unofficial observer for the United States on the reparations commission.

Signed with Reservations.
All the delegates of the big powers,
the United States, Great Britain, France, and Belgium, signed the accords, but the representatives of Italy
and Japan made reservations insisting on the rights of their governments
to make their own interpretations.

Yusuf I. Brattiano, the Roumanian delegate, inserted a reservation as a point against his failure to obtain the demands which the Bucharest government made for participation in German reparations since Austria and Hungary are not paying, but Jugo-
slavia, Czechoslovakia, Poland,
Greece and Brazil signed without further complaint. The representatives of the big powers patiently listened to a delegate of the little people
make a tale of woe and insisting on the government getting a split in the new German reparations.

Winston Churchill, British chancelor of the exchequer, said that Great Britain had "every sympathy" for France's demands for compensation for coffee stocks in Germany which were seized at the outbreak of the war, but no money was available to satisfy the French demands.

The big delegates were almost
moved to tears at some of the heart-
breaking pleas of the little members,
but with the entire proceeds from the Dawes plan already divided up among themselves the chief members could only listen.

French Mentions Debt.
Everybody breathed a sigh of relief
when the little fellows finished, and then Etienne Clémentel, French
finance minister, thanked his colleagues for the lofty sentiments and previous collaboration which they had given.

Then he slipped over a fast line.
"We have other problems to solve,
notably a solution in an amicable
way and in a brotherly spirit of the interallied debt," he said.
Ambassadors Frank B. Kellogg and Hugon T. Herrick and Col. Logan reacted quickly at the ominous words
and then, remembering that the United States was an "associate" and not an
"allied" power, they realized that this

FINANCING FOR HUGE MARKET DISTRICT COMPLETED

Financing of Chicago's new $17,000,000 produce market district, the projected plans for which are shown above, was successfully completed at midnight last night. The new district covers an area approximating six square blocks, bounded by Racine avenue and Morgan street, lying between 14th street and 15th place. The project calls for the construction of buildings to house 160 firms.

ABOLISH TWO JOBS TO END A DISPUTE BETWEEN 2 WOMEN

Unable to adjust the personal difficulties existing between two women
assistant heads of the county social service bureau, the county board yesterday decided to solve the situation
by abolishing both their jobs and appointing other women in their stead.
At a meeting of the finance committee, considering the annual budget, it was voted to abolish the positions of assistant superintendents of the bureau, now held by Mrs. Josephine Lawrence and Miss Kate Meade.
Miss Virginia Sanford, recently placed in charge of the bureau by Anton J. Cornak, president of the county board, will continue in the committee, it was provided by the committee.
The changes in the budget were recommended officially by J. L. Jacobs, efficiency expert for the board.

was not a forbidden topic among the allies, and remained seated.

"U. S. Works with Allies Again."
Mr. Churchill then explained how he had been won over from his attitude of reserve regarding the American
claims to full recognition of their justice and he boosted the eminent qualities of the future secretary of state,
Mr. Kellogg, who became his gratitude.

"The official participation of the United States in the Dawes plan operations carries incoherently great moral authority," said Mr. Churchill in felicititating America. "America is working again with the allies in the most complete harmony."

Must Revise Schedule.
With every one throwing bouquets
at one another, the important fact is overlooked that the settlement of the army costs, giving the United States $5,000,000 gold marks ($15,750,000 annually) to pay off the $375,000,000 claim.
is only valid for one year and the solution of reparations awarding America
14 per cent operative for four years.

Next year the whole solution of the army costs will be revised because by
that time it is expected that the Ruhr
and Cologne will have been evacuated,
and four years hence, when the Dawes plan is expected to be yielding fully
and certain priorities have been established, the reparations allocations
must be altered.

The French are dissatisfied with the reduction of the allowance for armies
of occupation to 150,000,000 gold marks
($450,000,000) annually, of which France
gets 110,000,000 gold marks ($330,000,000)
and Belgium and Great Britain
$40,000,000 gold marks ($120,000,000)
apiece.
The French admit that this is far from covering the cost of their big effectives in the Rhineland.

up in the Canadian or Alaskan wilds,
struggling and slowly starving day
after day until the trapper arrives
again on his rounds. Perhaps the animal in its dying agony gnaws off its foot and limps away too late to cheat starvation.

Shudder First, Then Angry.
First it brought shudders, then indignation. Mrs. Mink pulled her cape about her shoulders and exchanged hurt glances with Mrs. Silver Fox.
Mrs. Russian Sable eyed the speaker
disdainfully.

Mrs. Beaver's countenance suggested the orator had chosen
a topic in poor taste. Mrs. Mink merely elevated her brows at Mrs.
Muskrat, but the message ran:
"The very idea!"

Lieutenant Commander Breck went bravely on:
"If it were possible for women who wear furs to witness the suffering of the little fur bearing animals when they are caught in the cruel mouths of giant steel traps, they would certainly ban fur coats forever unless they could be sure that the animals sacrificed for their extravagant tastes met their deaths painlessly."

Fur Wearing Women Leave.
Mrs. Hudson Seal arose, sniffed and walked out with cheeks aflame and head held high. One by one, Mrs.
Moleakin, French Seal, Red Seal,
Caracul, Beaver, and Russian Sable
followed in her wake.

"The suffering of the more than

guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

90,000,000 fur bearing animals caught
in steel traps each year would stagger
the human imagination," continued the speaker, as he viewed the fur clad backs of his audience retreating down
the aisles. Some of them, as they passed outside the door to exchange
indignant opinions, caught a few more phrases about "extravagant women
who needlessly wear furs in the winter time."

But the number of indignant members who deserted the meeting today
did not include the six who resigned a few days ago because of the recent execution of some dumb inmates at the animal rest farm conducted by the society.

Studio Owner Fined for Pictures Taken of Women

F. F. Oster, owner of a photographer's studio at 22 North Wabash avenue, was fined $100 and costs yesterday in the South Clark street police court, because Judge John H. Lyle could not see the artistic merit of some photographs found in the studio following a police raid. The case follows that in which Emil Lorko was charged with asking $50 from Mrs.
Marjorie Sevik, 2411 Gray avenue, to bring about the destruction of some photographic plates of her at the Oster studio.

AUTOS CLAIM 2 MORE VICTIMS; TOTAL NOW 15

Unidentified Woman
Dies in Hospital.

Cook county's total of auto victims
for 1925 was raised to fifteen yesterday
with the death of two people, one
an unidentified woman who died at the Chicago Lying-in hospital, while authorities were vainly
trying to locate
her kin and the other a Negro
who was struck
by a speeding automobile at State
and 5th streets.

The woman
who was run
down by a taxicab
last Friday while crossing Garfield CHARLES J. PERKINS
boulevard at Wabash avenue appeared to be about 55 years of age and was apparently a Jewess. Bundles in her arms indicated she had been shopping
in the district and police believe she lived nearby.

John Jackson, 39 years old, 4725 Indiana avenue, was the day's other victim. He and a companion, John Monroe, 5830 South Sangamon street, were struck by a speeding car while attempting to cross the street. The machine sped away without stopping.

Jackson died in the Wilson hospital
of a skull fracture. Monroe was badly cut and bruised. He was taken to his home.

Charles J. Peters, 1451 North Avenue, state grain inspector and a well known figure in Chicago politics,
suffered deep cuts in the face when he was struck through the window of a taxicab, in which he was riding.

The driver, Lewis Kahn, in seeking to avoid striking a truck, crashed his car into a fence enclosing a stone quarry.

$17,000,000 FOR NEW PRODUCE MARKET ASSURED

S. W. Straus & Co. Underwrite Project.

Financing of Chicago's new $17,000-000 produce market district to take the place of the former South Water street
district was successfully completed at midnight last night. The consummation came in the nick of time, it being
the hour of expiration of real estate options covering the territory to be occupied by the 144 stores of the district.

The new district covers an area ap-proximating six square blocks bounded by Racine avenue and Morgan street
and lying between 14th street and 15th place. Benedict K. Goodman and Hugh McLennan, as promoters, are under arrangement with S. W. Straus & Co.
to underwrite an $8,000,000 bond issue
for the project.

Months of Negotiation.
Consummation of the project comes after months of negotiation between its financiers and members of the South Water Street Market trust, an organization composed of some 200
leading commission merchants, and of which Frank E. Nollis is chairman and
A. H. Welch is president.

Fate of the project hung in the balance last night up until practically
the moment of expiration of the real-estate options.

When all other details were cared for a little group, a portion of the 150
or more property owners from whom
the land was purchased, still stood un-
surely about the offices of the Chicago
Title and Trust company while Brig.
Gen. Abel Davis and his aids examined
into the validity of titles.

Must Give up Homes.
"It means that a score or more old
time residents must give up homes
occupied by them for fifty, and even sixty years in some instances," explained Albert J. Welsberg, who had charge of the options for the Goodman firm. "It was incredibly hard work to get many of them to consent to sell."

"It constitutes the most constructive development in the history of my firm," declared Vice President Laurence F. Stern of S. W. Straus & Co.
"It gives the produce men the most modern and scientifically planned produce market in the world. Decreased handling charges should result in a saving in the cost of Chicago's food."

BARNEY FRIBERG CALLED "OTHER MAN" IN DIVORCE

Barney Friberg, third baseman for the Cubs, mixed baseball with an intimation for another man's wife,
according to a
crum bill for divorce filed in Superior court by
Dr. August Wen-
del, 4312 Elston
avenue, a physician.

Dr. Wendel, represented by Attorney Charles E.
Erbstein, filed the
crum bill after his wife, Mrs. Bernice Wendel, 1111 Ard-
more avenue,
brought suit,
through Attorney Harry A. Bianch, for separate maintenance.
The physician declared that Mrs.
Wendel and Friberg made love to each other a year ago.

NOT WITHOUT COOKS

"We may live without poetry,
music and art; we may
live without conscience and
live without heart;

"We may live without friends; we may live without books; but civilized man
cannot live without cooks."

Thus sings Owen Meredith in his beautiful poem, "Lucile".

And, singing, strikes a responsive chord in the hearts
of those who dine at CHILDS.

Where the complete
savor of the food reveals the skill of the cooks.

WE WAY SPLIT OF BRIBE TOLD IN MEANS TRIAL

High Officials Named in Safir's Testimony.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

New York, Jan. 14.—[Special.]— Safir, Chicago sales manager and promoter, explained on the stand in Federal Judge Walter Safir's court this afternoon something of the strange mental process
that led him and his associates in the Cokelet company defense in 1922
to part with $45,000 to strangers, who promised to fix their case for them in Washington and New York.

Safir, who is under sentence of two and a half years in Atlanta prison,
was the first to reveal the conspiracy.
With Gaston B. Means and Col.
Thomas B. Felder, noted criminal attorney, he was charged with accepting the money to bribe former Attorney
General Daugherty and United States
Attorney William Hayward of New York. Mr. Hayward is a former secretary of the Republican national committee.

To Be Split Five Ways.
It was stated today in testimony by Safir and by Samuel Rosenblatt, who was examined nearly all day by Safir's lawyer, Frank P. Walsh, that this $45,000 was to be split five ways, according to the tale of Means to them.
Three names were mentioned: Samuel Daugherty, William J. Burns and Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury. Mr. Mellon, as well as Mr. Daugherty, may be called in this case by the prosecution.

"After our arrest in Chicago," Safir
said, "I employed Attorney Joseph O.
Kostner and then came on to New York. I had an attorney here, Tom McGrath. Kostner called me on the phone while I was in New York and told me that Rosenblatt was in touch with some one in Washington who could settle the case.

"I called in our associates for a conference and Kostner told them all about it and the percentage each was to get. I suggested that we should go back to Chicago and get the money and papers were returned. Kostner called from Chicago and told us
that Elmer Jaroske had demanded $45,000 at once for Means. Kostner cut us to $10,000.

Borrowed the Money.
"I went to my wife and brother and
borrowed the money and the others did the same.
We got busy and got the money.
Kostner turned it over to St. Herman. Safir said on cross-examination that Jaroske told the reason the fixing was stopped was because of the prosecution proceedings against Daugherty in Washington.

"He told us," said the witness,
"that Congressman Volstead would be the committee would bring a report expurgating Daugherty
and that Volstead was to be prohibition
lawyer."
"Your connection was that men like Daugherty and Burns were betraying
the office and their country?"
"I never had any experience like that before."
"And Kostner was with you?"
"Yes."
"You were told he was a well known

THOUGHT MONEY LEGAL FEE.

Ald Joseph O. Kostner, in St. Anthony's hospital, where he has been confined for five weeks because of heart disease, yesterday reiterated his statement that he was not aware of anything wrong in the transaction in New York in which he was alleged to have given Gaston B. Means $47,500
to "fix" former Attorney General Harry
M. Daugherty.

Kostner admitted having been present when the money was passed. He declared he was counsel for Samuel Safir. The alderman declared he thought the money was to be used to pay New York attorneys to take the case.

KAISER BACKERS WIN BIG POST IN GERMAN CABINET

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—The new German cabinet, under selection by Dr. Hans Luther, former minister of finance,
has been completed, according to reports from the Nationalist headquarters tonight. "These advisers say the personnel will be as follows:

Minister of foreign affairs—Gustav Stresemann.

Minister of the interior—Martin Schiele,
a nationalist.

Minister of finance—Moritz Sasselech,
a nationalist.

Minister of trade—Herr Neuhaus,
a nationalist.

Minister of agriculture—Count Kamnitz,
a nationalist.

Minister of war—Otto Gumbel,
a nationalist.

Minister of labor—Herrrich Brauns,
Catholic.

Postal minister—Herr Stitzel, Catholic.

Minister of justice and of the occupied regions—Herr Schollen, Catholic.

While only two of the men in the Luther cabinet are known openly as nationalists, two others, who are considered as experts, are decidedly of the nationalist stripe.

Fearful to Face Reichstag.

The Luther cabinet has been ready for the last two days, but its mon-archistic coloring was so strong that the chancellor designate feared the storm certain to arise on its presentation to the Reichstag. Dr. Luther has been negotiating with the republican parties, trying to show them the importance of his cabinet in which the
"nationalists" will be forced to share
the responsibility for the conduct of the nation's affairs at this critical time.

While strongly opposing monarchist
representation, the Catholic centrists
finally accepted the views of Herren Luther and Stresemann, and they informed the prospective chancellor that while they would not give him their fullest confidence, they would agree to vote in favor of the government's program as submitted to them.

Dr. Luther announced his determination to carry out the policies of the Marx government.

Victory for Kaiserites.

Supporters of former Kaiser William won a sensational victory by the inclusion of Herr Schiele, official leader
of the nationalists, in the new government as minister of the interior. The monarchists had been clamoring for this seat, as well as three others, for the last week. In return for Dr. Luther's generosity they promised to withdraw their attacks against members of the former cabinet for their support of President Ebert.

GEORGE SILVER, FAMED SALOON KEEPER, DIES

Started Career with "Bathhouse John."

BY JOHN KELLEY.

George Silver, old time saloon and cabaret keeper, died last night at his residence, 7246 Coles avenue. On Monday he was stricken with paralysis
and he never recovered consciousness.
His widow and his two daughters, aged 11 and 9 years, were with him when the attending physicians pronounced
him dead.

A picturesque and somewhat stormy career was ended in the passing of Silver, who for a third of a century
was one of the best known men in the city's gay life. He had many clashes with the police regarding the manner in which he conducted his various saloons.

Hubber in Bathhouse.

Silver was a rubber in the bath-house operated by John J. Coughlin
under the Hotel Brevoort before Coughlin entered politics. When Coughlin, commonly called "Bathhouse
John," opened the Silver Dollar saloon in Madison street, west of La Salle, Silver became his bartender.

Soon afterward Coughlin was put up by the Democrats for alderman of the First ward, and he has held office ever since. Silver was one of his early lieutenants, and the "Bath-house" has often said that he never had a more faithful political friend.
Silver was a drawing card for the "Silver Dollar" saloon. He was a natural wit, and his Yiddish dialect was refreshing. He had a peculiar way of expressing himself; for instance, if he wished to impress a listener he would place his hand over his heart and say, "It is the truth
from the heart out."

His Troubles Begin.

Silver launched a saloon of his own
in a basement on the east side of Dearborn street, near Washington. Here
he installed a piano, and the instrument was the beginning of his troubles
with the authorities. Mayor Carter Harrison passed the Silver saloon late
one night and heard the discordant
notes of the piano, playing an accompaniment to a ribald song. The next day Silver's license was revoked.

Afterward Silver opened the Maxim,
a cabaret at 2020 Wabash avenue.
This place also fell under the ban of Mayor Harrison, who closed it the day after it was opened. Silver procured
a court order and reopened the place.

Other saloons operated by Silver were the Marine, on the west side of Dearborn street, north of Madison, and a place at Milwaukee and Ashland avenues.

After a brief retirement Silver opened the Rialto cabaret, a basement
resort at the southeast corner of Clark

M'SWIGGIN WINS; ENDS CLASH WITH JUDGE G. KERSTEN

Things simmered down yesterday in Judge George Kersten's courtroom,
where the day before a jury had listened to hot words and names passed between the Judge and Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin.

It was agreed that there had been a mistake regarding the validity of certain testimony over which the argument had started. Judge Kersten reversed his former decision and allowed
the state's evidence to go in.

Several years ago Silver made a trip to Europe. On his return he brought nearly 500 cases for his friends. In making a presentation he would say,
"I got this in Paris, especially for you."

and Randolph streets. It was said that Silver was "broke" at the time
and that George Cohen, the actor
staked him to the opening money.
This was one of the gayest drinking
resorts in Chicago.

In later years Silver opened the Friars' Inn, also a basement cabaret,
at the northeast corner of Van Buren
street and Wabash avenue.

GOLDEN HORN ROUTE OPENED TO U. S. FLYERS

Turks Feared Spying by Other Girdlers.

BY LOWELL THOMAS.
(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune Newspaper Syndicate and the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SECTION LIV.

Of all the expeditions that started out to circumnavigate the globe by air the only one allowed to use the historic bridge from Asia to Europe via Constantinople and the Golden Horn was the American world flight. The others were obliged to take the much longer route by way of Greece, the island of Crete, across the Mediterranean to northern Africa, and finally from Egypt to Baghdad by way of the Suez canal, the Sinai desert, the Holy Land, Damascus, and North Arabia.

The Turks had not welcomed the idea of foreign airplanes flying over their country. Like the Japanese, they at first thought it might merely be a clever way of getting pictures of their country from the air. They had not yet forgotten that they had been tangled up in a great world war only a few years before. So it required a great deal of patient maneuvering for the Americans to convince the Turks that they should change their minds.

Feared Sinal Desert.

Although Nelson and Wade thought that Lowell Smith would have better luck than Moses as a navigator, they preferred to avoid the Sinal desert if possible. By flying to Europe via Constantinople and whirling across the Hellespont at the rate of a hundred miles an hour they could save themselves the long and unnecessary water hop across the Mediterranean.

So the Turkish air agreed, and thus it was that the American world flyers were the first to look down from the sky on the Black sea, the Bosphorus, and the Sea of Marmora while flying over the Golden Horn from Asia to Europe by the route made famous during the many thousand year old struggle between orient and occident.

Best View of Trip.

Nor would they trade their experience for a good deal. The American world flyers agree that the view they had of Constantinople from the air was one of the high spots of their journey round the globe. Of all the cities over which they flew, as a wonderful picture, as a spectacle that would inspire a poet or an artist, Constantinople far surpassed Shanghai, Hongkong, Bangkok, Rangoon, Calcutta, the seven cities of Delhi, the coral city of Buzhure on the Persian Gulf, or even romantic Bagdad.

"Our first glimpse of this city which has stood here on the Golden Horn for nearly 3,000 years, and which the French rightly call la Sublime Porte, was of Istanbul on the Asiatic shore," says Commander Lowell Smith. "But almost at the same moment the minarets and domes of the mosques of Stamboul appeared just beyond."

"It was one of the finest flying days we had. The visibility was so perfect that we could see for a hundred miles or more in every direction. Air out over the plains of Turkey to the south, out over the Black Sea whence Jason and the Argonauts sailed in search of the Golden Fleece, in the east of Gallipoli, and to the north toward Bulgaria.

Telegraph Haphazard.

Admiral Bristol, the American ambassador to Turkey, Lieut. Halverson, who had made all our advance arrangements in the countries over which we had just flown; Maj. Walsh, who had preceded us across Europe, and a number of our other fellow countrymen were at San Stephano waiting for us. But it was only by chance that they happened to be there. Due to the inefficiency of the telegraph in that

YANK FLYERS OVER THE BALKANS

When the flyers reached the Balkans they found that their planes could go faster than a telegram. Both at Constantinople and Baghdad they came down unannounced because of the failure of the news of their presence to part of the world the wires we had sent from Bagdad and Aleppo had never reached them. They had merely gone out to the aerodrome on a hunch that we might arrive. Even as far as Paris, telegraphic communications in Europe are haphazard. In an airplane you can nearly always make quicker time than a telegram, and frequently the latter never arrives at all.

"After working from 2 o'clock until 4:30 we drove in to the city, but there wasn't any official entertainment that night owing to the fact that no one knew we were coming. So we enjoyed ourselves wandering about the streets seeing all that we could of this city where the races of earth meet, each without abandoning his own national costume, and without adopting any of the customs of the Turks."

"Although the greatest of all the cities of Islam, the first thing we missed was the yashmak, the Mohammedan veil. The women of Turkey have at last taken this first step toward freeing themselves from the bondage of the harem. But the absence of the veil made it difficult for us to tell the difference between Turkish, Georgian, Armenian, Grecian, Bulgarian, Italian and Russian women."

American Girls Pretended.

"We are often asked in what country we found the most beautiful women. Just why this question should be asked of us we do not quite understand. The only members of our party who might lay any claim at all to being authorities on this delicate and alluring subject are the three who occupied the rear cockpits. For example 'Les' and 'Smiling Jack' insist that by far the most beautiful women we saw from the time we left Puget Sound until we landed in New England were the American girls we met in Shanghai. To this the rest of us all say, 'Heard!'"

"Then next in order 'Les' puts the Russian beauties whom we saw from a distance in Constantinople. Third in his classification he puts the Romanians."

"According to the original schedule we were supposed to spend four days on the shores of the Bosphorus. But we were anxious to reach Paris by Bastille day, which was only four days away, and then proceed on our light trip across the North Atlantic with the least possible delay."

Leave East Behind.

"Next morning we were up at dawn again and took off from San Stephano field at 7:30. As we turned around and took our last look back at the receding shores of the vast continent of Asia, across which we had flown for so many days, it seemed to us that Constantinople was indeed 'the quietest scene of the east,' the most mysterious and picturesque of all the cities we had seen from the day we first arrived in Japan. But the moment we

McANDREW WILL ORGANIZE NEW TEACHER COUNCIL

Plans to Ask Advice from Aids.

Supt. William McAndrew of the public schools is preparing to seek the advice and experience of Chicago school teachers in the administration of educational matters. It became known yesterday.

The superintendent, it was learned, is about to submit a plan for the reorganization of the teachers' council, which was abolished some time ago at his recommendation. The new council will include principals, members of the educational staff, and board members. The new organization will differ radically from the one abolished in the fall.

Under Direction of Committee.

The new organization will be known as the Chicago Public School Teachers' council and will be administered by a central committee comprising the following:

"Two representatives from the Chicago Teachers' federation.
Two representatives from the Teachers' league.
One representative from the Women's Federation of Teachers.
One representative from the Men's Federation of High School Teachers.
One representative from the Principals' club.

One representative from the com-

very education department.
One assistant superintendent.
One member of the board of education.
The superintendent of schools.
Teachers to give voice.

The voice of the classroom teachers will be heard in meetings conducted by the principals and the opinion of these meetings will be relayed to the central committee, where, with Supt. McAndrew presiding, the matters will be thrashed out. The new organization is based on an investigation conducted by a commission of principals and assistant superintendents appointed some time ago.

Under the old system the teachers met in local groups and excluded every one except classroom teachers. Abolishment of many of the penny lunches, recommended by the superintendent, was deferred by the board yesterday at the request of Trustee J. Lewis Gault.

Charge for Bath Towels.

Upon the recommendation of Supt. McAndrew the board voted a charge of 1 cent for bath towels in the public school baths, which up to now have been furnished free. The fee, the superintendent estimates, will save $22,000 annually.

Maintenance of baths in the schools, operated as an educational activity, cost the board last year $136,000.

KAJDIK TELLS STORY OF WIFE'S DEATH TODAY

Michael Kajdik, 46 years old, arrested at his grocery store, 3448 Clybourn avenue, yesterday following the death of his wife, KaDaria, will appear today at the coroner's inquest to tell whether or not he gave his wife a "terrible beating" Monday night which, neighbors claim, caused the death of Mrs. Kajdik.

The grocer, held in custody at the Southfield avenue police station, told Capt. John J. Naughton and Lieut. Stephen Barry, in charge of the investigation, that his wife died from the effects of a bad cold and a bad fall. But Joseph Look, Mrs. Kajdik's 12 year old son, told the police that his stepfather had given his mother a beating Monday night when they got into a quarrel over which one should wash his hands first.

Five other witnesses, neighbors, and relatives, told Capt. Naughton and Lieut. Barry that Mrs. Kajdik was badly beaten Monday night when they got into a quarrel over which one should wash his hands first.

Mrs. Sarah Barrett, who keeps a boarding house at 3444 Clybourn avenue, declared that she heard the row about 11:30 that night, and finally sent in a call to the police.

LIN SANG'S TOMB STONE PLACED IN TRIBUNE TOWER

One of World Famous Blocks Sent Here.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Lin Sang's honorable tombstone hasn't disturbed a soul for more than 300 years.

And it might have gone on another 300 years if the workmen on the Tribune tower, engaged in placing the collection of famous stones, sent it from all parts of the world, had only had a working knowledge of Chinese. But they possessed no such knowledge. And rather than take a chance of turning the honorable stone upside down they paused.

Beck Chinese Merchant's Aid.

Then they called in the friendly and efficient aid of Mr. Tom Lee, secretary to the Chinese Merchants' association, 235 West 22d street. Mr. Lee glanced at the oblong antique.

"Turn it up the other way," he suggested.

Workmen reversed the block, with its graven hieroglyphics.

"It's a tombstone, you know," Mr. Lee explained, and looked very solemn. "What's she say," ventured a man with a chisel.

Mr. Lee looked at the lower right hand corner and began to read: "Dear Lin Sang's grave."

And the next line: "Fas Quon, son of the deceased."

Then Mr. Lee offered to procure a good luck omen for the Tribune tower, a stone from an ancient Chinese temple several thousands of years old. But to get this stone from China would take some two and one-half months.

So the stone slab took its place in the collection of other famous stones. A few of these are to be grouped about the entrance of the tower; the others will have a place on the promenade on the twenty-fifth floor of the building.

When construction on the tower was first started, it was suggested to the Tribune's foreign correspondents that they send stones from famous buildings throughout the world. Twenty-nine such stones, most of them duly authenticated by the governments from which they were obtained, have already been received.

Raymond Hood, one of the architects of the new building, and Elmer Orendorf, its manager, received the Lin Sang stone from Brig. Gen. Frank McCoy, governor general of the Philippine islands.

The Stone's History.

The stone had this history: In the seventeenth century a band of Spaniards in China carried off several heavy stones to use as ballast for their ship. The tombstone was in that number. It found its way to Luzon, in the Philippines, and was later used in the construction of the Santa Lucia barracks at Luzon.

When Brig. Gen. McCoy heard of the Tribune's plan, he had the Chinese oblong taken from its resting place in the barracks wall and sent to Chicago where it was listed as a Chinese gravestone. But the list neglected to say which side was "up." Hence the consultation with Mr. Tom Lee.

Elmer Finds Good and Bad Mixed in Air

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The strangest topped over, up side down entertainment imaginable, and ranging from the highest possible peak in musical excellence down to the outlandishly rotten.

First: A bright star on this week's Lyon & Healy 5:20 W-G-N program—Ida Divinoff, a newly arrived Russian violinist, who by her brilliant playing and choice of selections is brightening thousands of households these winter afternoons. If possible, don't miss Miss Divinoff's final number, "Cavotte" (Bach-Kreisler). See if it reminds you of Handel's "Harmonious Blacksmith."

Second: Surprise No. 1—Edwin Seder's 6 o'clock W-G-N organ recital was entirely Wagnerian, beginning with the Funeral March from the "Dusk of the Gods," and concluding with "Tannhauser" overture. Good.

Third: Annoyance No. 1—Announcer Ray turning WLS into a little country station, also cheapening the talent by having numbers sung for Tom, Jerry, and Ann. Bad.

Fourth: The Chicago Association of Credit Men furnishing an 8 o'clock program at W-G-N, and almost making one mistake this station for a KTW midnight revue. Very good entertainment of the lighter order. Exception—We prefer Beethoven played in the grand old fashioned, dignified way. Helen Fabri, pianist, disagreed.

Fifth: KTW at 8 o'clock in a typical WLS Walther league program. Edward Bittner, tenor, and Walter Saemannhauser, pianist-composer. Both good, extra good. Mr. Bittner's singing of "The Lord Is My Strength" was sublime, as was everything he did. The same for Mr. Saemannhauser.

Sixth: The finest of musical treats. Beethoven's piano concerto in C minor, WMAQ, 8:40 to 9:14, by Rae Bernstein, with Glenn Dillard Gunn playing the orchestral score at the second piano. A lovely Beethoven competition, beautifully played, and by far the most enjoyable of any in the WMAQ concert series to date. Announcer Whitney explained that Miss Bernstein will play this concert at the Chicago Symphony orchestra's popular concert four weeks from tonight. We assure the audience that at the close of the performance on that happy-to-be occasion there will be mingling with the applause the words, "Beautiful, beautiful! 'Wagner' this simply lovely!" And it will be just that.

BISHOP BROWN'S CREED LIKENED TO FETISH TENET

Church Counsel Argues at Episcopal Hearing.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—The doctrine of the Protestant Episcopal church was compared with the alleged heretic teachings of Bishop William Monteverde today in the concluding argument by Charles L. Dibble, church counsel, before the church's board of review.

This completed the case of the "proposition." Tomorrow Joseph W. Davis, chief counsel for the defense, will finish his argument, thus clearing the way for the reading of the appeal and the possible sentencing of Bishop Brown.

Bishop Brown's ideas are no better, he said, than the fetish worship of the jungle. Mr. Dibble said, "Everything is related to the material world and nothing to the spiritual, he said, and illustrated by saying: 'When we spoke in our brief of the life of the spirit after death, his counsel rejoined that we must have been referring to ectoplasm, or something of that sort. They could not comprehend the spiritual as an objective reality, for the spiritual is unknown to them.'

Compared to Fetish Worship. Mr. Dibble declared that a fetish worshiper who bowed to one stone would be no better off if he bowed to a million, or to a universe full of stones. If recourse is had to Bishop Brown's idea of a trinity of matter, form and motion for conception of God, he argued, it could be found when a stone is buried, with force, through the air.

He quoted from the book, "Commentary on the Bible," to show that the defendant had himself called his belief in matter "atheistic rationalism."

"You are reading from the book in order to show that Bishop Brown utters doctrines contrary to those held by this church," queried Bishop William Monteverde, head of the court, "I am," replied Mr. Dibble, "and also to show he would not, as his counsel hinted yesterday, preserve God in the hearts of men, for he would bow down men's minds with a trinity in which matter is the father, force, the son, and law the holy spirit. He gives us this material thing and says 'That's all there is there isn't any more.' 'If that be religion, I want none of it.'"

Four Fundamental Doctrines. Mr. Dibble maintained that the record of the trial court showed that the defendant had been given a detailed charge that he had contravened church doctrine by four denials—the existence of God, the doctrine of the Trinity, the earthly existence of Christ, and the divinity of Christ, and his own intercession for us.

He declared that the church had, as a result, formulated its doctrine as the growth, development, and other parts of the prayer book and had not sacrificed its claim to catholicity by such action.

Formulated doctrines are but the

DR. MAX HENIUS RATIFIED AS MEMBER OF LIBRARY BOARD

Mayor Dewar's appointment of Dr. Max Henius, well known scientist and teacher of brewing, to membership on the public library board was ratified by the city council yesterday.

Dr. Henius, who was born in Ash-burn, Denmark, in 1859, will succeed Lawrence F. Cumes, father-in-law of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, on the board.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, on the board.

expressions of religious experience," he added, "Just as so-called natural laws are expressions of scientific experience in the field of research. And you can call a formulated doctrine a dogma if you wish without making it want the defense here called a 'de-based doctrine.'

"A dogma is no more imposed upon us by the church than a natural law is imposed upon us by science. A dogma is not true because the church says it is true, but the church says it is true because it has become convinced of that truth by religious experience."

Discusses the Resurrection. The church advocates deism, too, the phrase, "resurrection of the body," as found in the Apostles' Creed.

"The word 'body' was 'dash' in the original Latin," he said. "The Nicene creed speaks of 'the resurrection of the dead.' It might be thought that here are three versions of one doctrine, but the outstanding fact is the word 'resurrection.'

"Some one asked St. Paul, as this independent body asked him, how the body could be raised up and Paul replied: 'Thou fool! When thou sowest thou sowest not the body that shall be, but bare grain, and God soweth such seed as please him.' That is as far as this church goes."

"You are reading from the book in order to show that Bishop Brown utters doctrines contrary to those held by this church," queried Bishop William Monteverde, head of the court, "I am," replied Mr. Dibble, "and also to show he would not, as his counsel hinted yesterday, preserve God in the hearts of men, for he would bow down men's minds with a trinity in which matter is the father, force, the son, and law the holy spirit. He gives us this material thing and says 'That's all there is there isn't any more.' 'If that be religion, I want none of it.'"

3 INDICTMENTS AGAINST BITHR ARE DISMISSED

No that there may be no stain on the reputation of William A. Bithr, former school board attorney, during the term of William Hale Thompson as mayor, three indictments charging Bithr with embezzlement of school funds were nolle prossed yesterday before Judge Hosen Wells in the Criminal court.

Bithr was once convicted by a jury and sentenced to the penitentiary, but the Appellate court ruled the indictments were faulty and reversed the jury's findings.

Presenting a List of His Deficiencies to Friend Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I heard a man keeping a crowd of friends in roars of laughter in the smoking room by fagaling them with the contents of a letter his wife had written him. Knowing the wife, I had seen the contents of the letter and understood the mirth.

It seems that friend wife was the type that would reform a husband by the doubtful method of perpetual nagging. She had spent, according to him, a considerable portion of every day since she had married him indulging in this indoor sport. Recently in a moment of explosive exasperation he had asked her if she wouldn't compile a list of his failings so that he might study it to advantage and at odd moments during the day when he wasn't too busy earning the daily bread. She did so, giving it to him by way of a New Year's greeting.

The list might have been written without many variations by a number of married women I know, women who would mold their husbands nearer to the perfect man who would fit neatly and tightly into the nook they have arranged for him in their domestic machinery.

In the natural order of things in a detailed domestic existence women are according to the masculine viewpoint "horribly fussy" about little things. Small things loom large and important in the life of a woman who desires that her domestic machinery go with out cracking and who knows that when some details go by default the entire household feels it. This makes many a wife dissatisfied a large part of the time. She doesn't realize how much more happy she could be if she could bring herself to let her husband alone as far as the little things go which she seems powerless to remedy.

The list of the particular woman I have in mind.

"Do wash your hands well before you wipe them on a perfectly good embroidered towel and ruin it!"

"Don't spoil the nice mahogany worktop by fovee laying down your feet upon it."

"Use an ash tray once in a while instead of the rug."

"Don't remember just after dinner

HAROLD TEEN—HER NEW BOY FRIEND THROWS A BIG SHADOW

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Back to Forget.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 19 and have been going about for three years with a man ten years my senior. During that time he has been of marriage quite a bit, but lately he has been around with other girls, and wants me to do the same with the fellows, which I refuse to do. What do you think of him? Do you think I did right by refusing what I did?"

"MART B."

It is a hopeless task to attempt to force a man's attention, Mary, particularly when he has told you that you no longer hold them. And what talent for remembering precious and venerable the way a woman does. Sometimes you find a man who takes hints remarkably well. The woman in the case is fortunate then. But if he doesn't, if he still persists in being himself, all suggestions to the contrary, a woman might just as well accept him as such—and be happy!

pleasure could you derive from forced attentions, dear? You had better follow in his footsteps and make other friends. It is the best way to forget him, dear.

Leave it to Him.

"Dear Miss Blake: Several weeks ago I met a young man the same age as myself whom I love dearly, and we have been going out steady until last Sunday evening, when we had a quarrel. I realized the mistake I had made and I apologized to my friend. However, he would not listen to me, and now I am heartbroken. How can I get in touch with him again, as I have learned through friends that he loves me and is willing to speak to me, but at the same time he tries to make me jealous by his actions."

"ANNEJOHN."

When you extended the apology, dear, it was up to him to accept it, and his actions were not those of a gentleman or of one who really cared for you. Anxious. You have done your share. It is not up to you to get in touch with him, dear.

Sour Cream Waffles.

One cup of this sour cream, one cup of flour, two eggs separated, a half teaspoon of salt, and one-fourth teaspoon of soda is all that we need for a small batch of delicious waffles. Beat the egg yolks, then beat the sour cream with them, combine this wetness with the flour, and lastly fold in the batter the stiffly beaten egg whites. If the batter should be too thick to pour, thin it with a little sweet milk. A good rule in securing a batter of the right consistency for waffles is to keep it thin enough to coat a waffle iron with a single stroke. To change this batter into one for rice waffles, add to it one cup of cold boiled rice. Other cooked cereals like hominy may take the place of the rice, but no rule can be given about their wetness or dryness the question of judgment counts.

The great point to remember in making waffles of any sort is that nineteenth of one's success depends upon the right management of the iron. It must be well seasoned by slow heating. If, then, it is once greased a whole batch of waffles can be cooked on it without greasing it again. A put to get it right as to heat is to put the cold iron over a gas burner turned as low as possible, and let it heat through that way. The best baked waffles are often those baked with the gas about a third up, but never more than a half an inch as the case will be in a well regulated burner. In general the sections of an iron will hold a good tablespoon of batter and it is best to use just the light amount.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has not equal for coughs, colds, and sore throats.

Time is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrup is made of pine and syrups. The "syrup" is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy, put 2½ ounces of Pine in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—enough for you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel it take right hold of a cough or cold. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of mucus. The syrup is the same—infused membrane. It is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Put this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for any ordinary throat ailment.

EDGE TAKEN OFF WHEAT BY HEAVY PROFIT TAKING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Heavy profit taking sales, based on the technical position, took the bull edge off the May wheat delivery and, while prices fluctuated erratically within a range of around 5c, the finish was within a fraction of the bottom, with a net loss of 1 1/2c, with the close at $1.44 1/2, after touching $1.47 on the bulge. July was 1/2c higher at $1.57 1/2, and September, $1.25 1/2, lower at $1.44 1/2. Corn was 1/2c higher, showing independent strength. May finished at $1.11 1/2, July, $1.15 1/2, and September, $1.25 1/2. Oats were 1/2c lower and rye 1 1/2c lower.

Barren Bullish on Wheat.

Settlement among wheat traders was decidedly more mixed, and there was heavy profit-taking by some of the best buyers recently. The feeling prevailed that the market was entitled to a good rebuke, in view of the 1 1/2c advance from the low point of last week. Julius H. Barren, former wheat director, who was here during the day, remains bullish, however, and says: "The shortage of wheat, and the fact that the world's production cannot be over-looked. Consumption during the last two or three months of the crop year is always heavy. The release of millions of dollars through the reparations settlement and the fact that there is an annual income of around $60,000,000,000 to be invested means an immense buying power which is strengthening values. Wheat around $2 is subject to wide fluctuations."

Corn Market Shows Strength.

Corn showed independent strength, with September selling at a new high on the crop. Buying was headed by strong professionals and houses with eastern connections, and there was also buying of corn as a hedge against sales of wheat. The feeling prevailed that corn has been relatively low, as compared with the latter grain. Bearish news was ignored. A supplementary department of agriculture report on the Dec. 1 pig survey attracted attention, as it suggested reduced farm consumption. Oats were lower in sympathy with wheat. Export demand for rye was about at the season, and, with wheat weak, a decline was easily attained. The heavy profit-taking of late has had a depressing effect.

Provisions Decline Sharply.

Stop loss orders were uncovered in lard toward the last, and prices declined sharply, closing with net losses of $250,000, while bellies were $160,000 lower. Rib was up 7 1/2c. Expectations of an increase of 15,000,000 to 15,500,000 in the increase in the semi-monthly

After a steady upturn for about a week the hog market weakened late yesterday, with the finish at the low time of the day, yet few remained in first hands. Opening sales were on a strong to 10c higher basis, but packers played a waiting game and after small shipping orders were filled prices declined 10c to 20c from best time of the morning. Top heavy sold at $11.50, against $12.75 previous Wednesday, the lowest day since Dec. 24. Receipts at 27,000 were 5,000 below expectations, with 70,000 expected today. Day's average price was $10.55, against $9.50 a week ago, when trade in underweights was demoralized. Quality graded fairly good.

WALL STREET NOTES

Smoke Shrouds City in Darkness—Wife of Tito Schipa, Opera Star, Battles Woman Who Hugs Him

SMOKE TURNS DAY INTO NIGHT. Scientists studying conditions which made it impossible to distinguish objects more than fifty feet away yesterday morning found that the darkness was not caused by fog, but by smoke. Atmospheric conditions made fog impossible, they said. In this picture, taken in front of the Art Institute, the features of the lion are obscure though the camera was not twenty-five feet away. (Tribune Photo.) (Story on page 1.)

WHY TRAFFIC SLOWED UP. The smoke curtain was so heavy at Madison and State streets that it was impossible to distinguish persons on opposite corners. The clock on the Boston store can be seen only because it is slightly above the densest portion of the smoke cloud. The two pictures appear just as recorded by the camera. No retouching has been done. (Tribune Photo.)
